Dear Sir or Madam,

Allocation 18: Homebase, Twickenham

We write in response to your Notice of Publication Consultation. We understand that the Allocation of the Homebase site is not a planning application.

[REDACTED] is immediately adjacent on the flank to the consultation property, with the result that a future development could connect to our house. However, we propose a different solution which would [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] which would also be connected from the Homebase side. This would not only produce a useful building, but would also save land by avoiding a set back between the existing houses and the uses to be proposed.

Our present request is that Planning Consultation should establish our interest in this project and provide us with information when a development is proposed. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Three other properties on the north side are adjacent, [REDACTED]

In the interim, we do not oppose the Allocation and we look forward to participating in the design and development process.

Sincerely,

Zamir Gobra
